Dear Deborah Taylor Tate:

America's broadband Internet goals are going unmet and America's international position is rapidly falling. Many American families, schools and libraries cannot afford broadband and most of rural America cannot even get access to the broadband Internet.

Once online, many families are concerned about the growing threat to children of easily accessible indecent and pornographic material. And public safety organizations often can't work together due to incompatible data networks.

It doesn't have to be this way. I urge you to support the M2Z Networks (www.m2znetworks.com) plan to put America back on the right track by providing 95% of America with access to a free, fast, and family-friendly wireless broadband Internet. It's in the public interest because it will make us safer and more competitive, it will create equal opportunity, and it will improve our great country.

Please support M2Z today.

Sincerely,

Michael G Sejut

America's broadband Internet goals are going unmet and America's international position is rapidly falling. Many American families, schools and libraries cannot afford broadband and most of rural America cannot even get access to the broadband Internet.

Added by me to the form letter:

"My Time-Warner basic cable/internet bill is just pennies away from the $100 mark each month. Our cable started out at $14.95 and AOL was $21.95 just a few years ago. As a family of 4 (2 daughters at the college level) dial-up is unimaginable.

I just heard about the M2Z idea today on the news and find it inexcusable that corporate interest (PROFIT) takes priority with the FCC over citizen best interest. Make the prices come down by giving us this opportunity!"

Dear FCC General Email Box,

As someone concerned about increased taxes and telephone fees, I oppose the big phone companies' plan to change the way monies are collected for the Universal Service Fund.

The plan being pushed by the big phone companies and some in Congress would change the Universal Service Fund (USF) collection methodology from a "pay-for-what-you-use" system to a "monthly flat-fee." This flat-fee system would result in forced phone bill hikes for me -- and for millions of low-volume, long-distance users in the U.S.

Shifting the funding burden of the USF away from high-volume users -- like big businesses -- and placing the weight on low-volume users -- students, prepaid wireless users, senior citizens and low-income residential and rural consumers -- is unfair. I URGE YOU to reject this flat-fee plan.

Thank you for your continued work. I look forward to hearing about your position on this matter.

Dear Commissioner Adelstein,

The airwaves belong to the public, not corporations like Verizon and AT&T whose anti-competitive practices have resulted in the U.S. falling to 16th in the world in high-speed Internet rankings.

To restore America's leadership in high speed Internet services, the FCC must ensure that the upcoming auction sets aside at least 30 MHz of spectrum for open and non-discriminatory Internet access. This will guarantee that new entrants have the opportunity to enter the market in competition with incumbent providers.

It would be a big mistake to hand over these airwaves to the very same phone and cable companies that dominate the wireline market. We need more competition and innovation, not more of the same. This new wireless spectrum must be open and neutral so that America can build a better Internet for everyone.

Once online, many families are concerned about the growing threat to children of easily accessible indecent and pornographic material. And public safety organizations often can't work together due to incompatible data networks.

It doesn't have to be this way. I urge you to support the M2Z Networks (www.m2znetworks.com) plan to put America back on the right track by providing 95% of America with access to a free, fast, and family-friendly wireless broadband Internet. It's in the public interest because it will make us safer and more competitive, it will create equal opportunity, and it will improve our great country.

Please support M2Z today.

Sincerely,

Charles Perry

Dear Deborah Taylor Tate:

America's broadband Internet goals are going unmet and America's international position is rapidly falling. Many American families, schools and libraries cannot afford broadband and most of rural America cannot even get access to the broadband Internet.

Once online, many families are concerned about the growing threat to children of easily accessible indecent and pornographic material. And public safety organizations often can't work together due to incompatible data networks.

It doesn't have to be this way. I urge you to support the M2Z Networks (www.m2znetworks.com) plan to put America back on the right track by providing 95% of America with access to a free, fast, and family-friendly wireless broadband Internet.
